PASSIVE PORTFOLIOS WITH VANGUARD FUNDS

Advisor Mutual Fund Program

Passive Portfolios with Vanguard Funds

Build a Passive Portfolio with Vanguard Index Funds by choosing one of several portfolios designed to help you reach your investment goals based on your risk tolerance and time horizon.

What are Asset Class Portfolios?

Security Benefit works with Mesirow to create Asset Class Level Portfolios which can be used to create a passive portfolio with Vanguard Index funds.

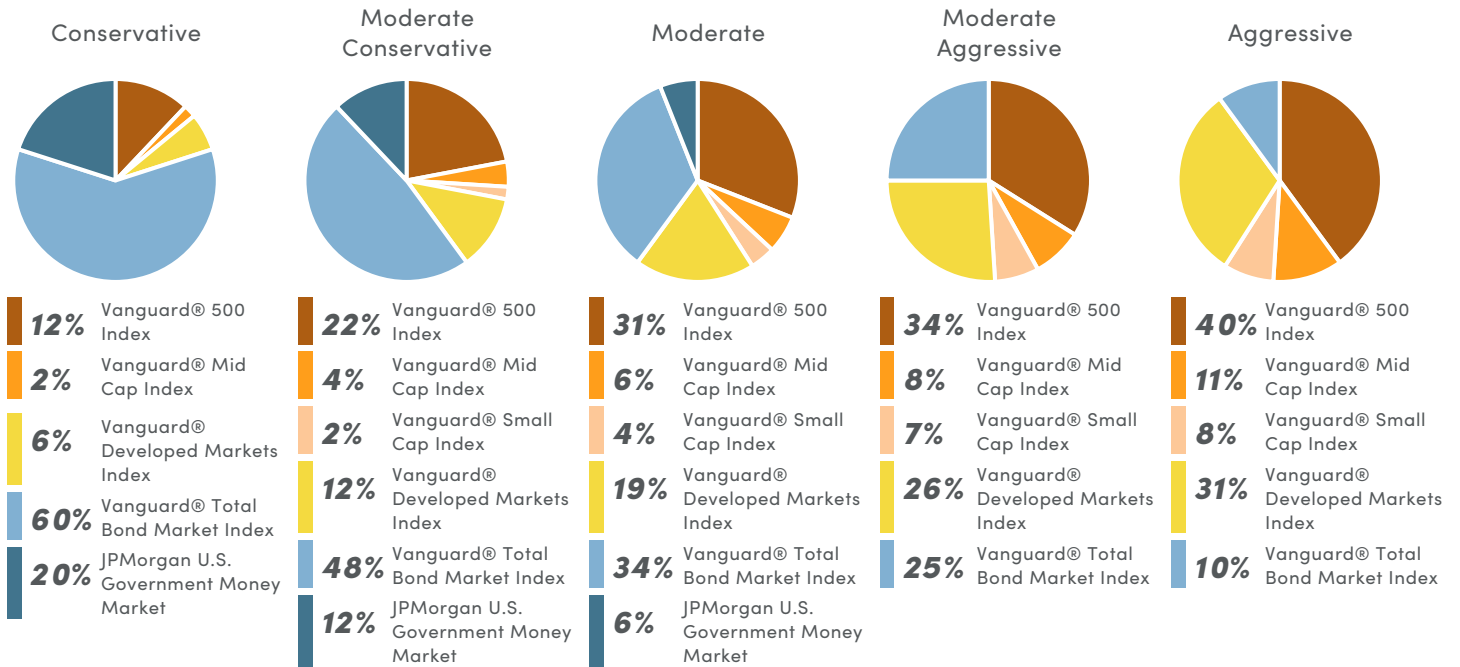

Asset Class Portfolios do not rebalance, will not automatically update, and are free for you to use as a reference for your individual portfolio. It is up to you and your financial professional to review your allocation and consider any changes that need to be made. Contact your financial professional for yearly updates.

Portfolio Types

Conservative	You want to avoid a potential loss of account value if you are nearing retirement. The Conservative Portfolio may have more stable and predictable returns than the other portfolios. You should be willing to go without the potential for higher long-term returns.
Moderate Conservative	Your primary goal is to avoid short-term losses. However, you also want higher long-term returns to offset the effects of inflation. Your account will likely have relative stability, but in order to keep up with inflation, some fluctuations in your account value should be expected.
Moderate	You are interested in balancing your level of risk and return. You want to have returns in excess of inflation and an increase in your account value over the long term. When investing in this portfolio, you should be willing to accept short-term losses and fluctuations in your account value.
Moderate Aggressive	You have more time until retirement and can tolerate higher-than-average fluctuations in your account value. This portfolio provides the potential for higher-than-average returns over the long term. You should be willing to accept short-term losses and less stable returns.
Aggressive	You are willing and able to stay the course through short-term gains and losses because you want the potential for higher returns over the long term. You should have a long time until retirement and a high tolerance for risk. You should be willing to accept frequent short-term losses and extreme fluctuations in account value.

How Do I Select My Investing Type?

Assess your risk to help you determine your investing comfort zone and the portfolio that may best suit your goals and time horizon. Your financial professional may have already helped you with this. If so, simply choose the investor type portfolio that best fits your needs.

The performance data quoted represents past performance. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance may be higher or lower than the performance quoted. Go to SecurityBenefit.com/Performance then choose the product name for the most recent month-end performance.

The performance returns shown above are hypothetical, non-standardized performance returns based on past performance. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. The performance calculations assume a one-time investment of $1,000 at the beginning of each period, and account value rebalanced quarterly into the model allocations shown on the following pages of this brochure. All dividends are assumed to be reinvested. Returns for periods longer than one year are annualized returns. Sales loads are waived by the funds for purchases made through the Advisor Mutual Fund Program. If you purchase these funds outside of the Advisor Mutual Fund Program, you may be subject to these charges. If the sales loads were reflected in the accompanying performance data, it would reduce the quoted performance.

Earliest Inception Date is the earliest common inception date of the funds that make-up each portfolio. This date is subject to change when the funds in the portfolio change.

An additional asset based fee of 0.45% applies to assets held in the Vanguard® and Avantis funds.
